My Favorite Things – ALTAROMA Vibes

by Luca Imbimbo

THE SHOWS: AU197SM & EDITHMARCEL

These are the two collections I have selected and in which there is a substantial part dedicated to menswear.

Couture collides with nanotechnology is the special edition collection presented by Au197Sm that for the first time has introduced into the Couture landscape the fusion of precious metals and the use of ultrasonic welding. Through a process protected by an international patent, which includes highly engineered steps and strictly hand-crafted phases, Au197Sm bonds 24-carat gold and other precious metals to fabric.

A technology that leads to successive and unprecedented innovations. Limited, up to now, to technical materials that contained a minimum percentage of synthetic fibers, Au197Sm, in fact, boasts the exclusive ability to use ultrasonic welding on garments made of, among other things, cady, silk, and jersey. The bonding of the metal, in fact, alters the composition of the fibers, making them suitable for ultrasonic welding.
